

Mike Strong Work documentation

1999 - research assistant, lecturer

UMKC for BIT (Bachelor of Information Technology) program in the former CSTP (Computer Science and Telecommunications Program).

The job, along with Nicole English, was the creation, web design and maintenance of the new online program, very new at the time. We were the "web monkeys." We put that site together.

While there we (Nicole and myself) created the IT-222 Multimedia course which is still going. It was started as a combination classroom (from primary development) and web course, always with an eye toward online usage.

This lasted through 2000 when the two-year grant ran out. I don't know the details of the grant only that I was hired into the program which was ongoing when I came in.
